

Reallocation of 2014 World Archery University Championships

LAUSANNE - Following the withdrawal of the town of Louvain-la-Neuve as host of the 10th World University Archery Championship in 2014, the FISU Executive Committee and the FISU World University Championships Department is pleased to announce that the city of Legnica (POL), host of several events of the World Archery Federation, will host the 10th and penultimate edition of the World University Archery Championship.

<http://www.fisu.net/en/Reallocation-of-2014-WUC-Archery-3133.html?mbID=5554>
Details zum Programm und zu den Teilnahmekosten folgen zu einem späteren Termin.

Termin laut WA Kalender: 2. – 5. Juli 2014

Anmeldung über den ÖBSV.

Interessenten bitte melden bei: praesident@oebv.com

Teilnehmer:

- a) Students who are currently officially registered as proceeding towards a degree or diploma at a university or similar institute whose status is recognised by the appropriate national academic authority of their country
- b) Former students of the institutions mentioned in a) who have obtained their academic degree or diploma in the year preceding the event.

Allgemeine jetzt vorhandene Information:

Archery (Wo FITA noch erwähnt ist = World Archery Federation (WA))

The History of Archery in FISU

In 1996, the championship season opened with the first World University Archery Championship in Vaulx-en-Velin, France. Combining rigor and harmony, physical fitness and immense concentration, this exemplary Olympic sport was certain to attract student enthusiasm. And because it can be pursued at one's own rhythm without putting pressure on schedules, archery fits easily into the rhythm of university life.

The city of Vaulx-en-Velin was a natural candidate for this championship, given the numbers of devotees to the sport within the sphere of Lyon's regional university sports committee. In 1998 the second World University Archery Championship recorded a very high level of participation, close to that of FITA's world championships.

Archery was four times in the list of optional sports at Summer Universiades: in 2003 in Daegu, Korea; in 2005 in Izmir, Turkey; in 2009 in Belgrade, Serbia; and in 2011 in Shenzhen, China, where the 2010 World University Championship took place as a test event. The level of the World University Archery Championships has been increasing over the past years and close cooperation with World Archery ensures a nice future for archery as a FISU sport. Indeed, from 2019 onwards archery will be a compulsory sport on the Universiade programme.

FISU Regulations

The archery competition has its own FISU Regulations following the most recent rules of the Federation Internationale de Tir à l'arc (FITA). The FISU Regulations are always set up on the recommendation of the FISU Technical Chair and the FITA Technical Delegate in close cooperation with the Committee for Sports Regulations, and approved by the FISU Executive Committee. In principle, the programme shall last five (5) days and include the events below.

Each country is authorised to enter a maximum of seventeen (17) persons from which twelve (12) competitors and five (5) officials.

I. Individual Events
Men	- Recurve bow (or division) - Compound bow
Women	- Recurve bow - Compound bow
II. Team Events
Men	- Recurve bow - Compound bow
Women	- Recurve bow - Compound bow
III. Mixed Team Events	- Recurve bow - Compound bow

I. Individual Events:

Maximum three (3) competitors in each bow category.

II. Team Events:

In each bow category, one (1) team of three (3) competitors selected on their best score in the individual qualification round. Only the sixteen (16) best scored teams will be allowed to compete.

III. Mixed Team Events:

In each bow category, one team of two (2) competitors, one (1) male and one (1) female selected on their best score in the individual qualification round. Only sixteen (16) best scored mixed teams will be allowed to compete.

